Name _____   Date _____

Dreamweaver 8 Introduction - True/False

Instructions: Circle T if the statement is true or F if the statement is false.

T   F   1. A network server is also known as a client server.

T   F   2. The title bar of the Internet Explorer feature contains buttons and boxes that allow you to perform many tasks.

T   F   3. A hyperlink allows you to jump to another place on the same Web page or to an entirely different Web page.

T   F   4. An OSP is similar to an ISP, but provides additional member-only services.

T   F   5. A Web site is a group of linked Web pages.

T   F   6. Broadband transmits one signal at a time.

T   F   7. A navigation map outlines the structure of the entire Web site, showing all the pages within the site and the connections from one page to others.

T   F   8. Polymorphic, Free Form, and Bulleted Item are types of structures used when creating a Web site.

T   F   9. When publishing a Web site, uploading is the process of transmitting all the files that comprise your Web site from your computer to a selected server or host computer.

T   F   10. Special Key HTML tags do not need to be enclosed within the < > brackets.