

WHERE TO FIND PARTS

All N-Series Tractors - Ford-Ferguson 9N, 2N, and Ford 8N

I am not in the used, rebuilt, or new tractor parts business. I do not have a complete inventory of tractor parts. However, I always have some "stuff" on hand (just ask my wife).

Other than a few rare items, parts are generally easy to find and usually surprisingly inexpensive. It's easier to find parts for these tractors than many of the more recent tractor models. What follows is a list of basic parts and part numbers that most parts counter people should be able to cross reference. Having the correct part numbers helps any web search drill down to the correct items. Beware cheap alternatives to these parts. If the sign says "CHEAP TRACTOR PARTS", that is what you will get. The cheap stuff may work, but probably won't fit right, or last as long. Be sure to ask if there is more than one option. Spend a little more if you can get "New Old Stock" (NOS), or "Just Like Original" (Dennis Carpenter Brand) parts.

The following two fittings are the adapter fittings that will be needed to hook most oil gauges to the flare fittings on the steel oil line. The designation NPTF stands for National Pipe Taper Fuel. In theory, these fittings do not require sealant on the threads, they are designed to completely seal mechanically. That's great in theory, but I still use a thread sealant for gas systems, especially when re-using one side or both sides of a connection. The sealant for gas systems is yellow in color rather than the white teflon stuff for water pipe fittings.
